Certainly makes sense we'd (HDA) be prepared with such a response.

Came up today that we need HDA talking points about our response to the opioid lawsuits. Our consultants on the west coast asked for that.

Agree with you all. I think we also need to discuss what policies, bills, and/or proposals can we proactively say we support as an industry to address the opioid crisis. I know the NACDS draft opioid guidelines document and effort is confidential as their members work to coalesce on areas they can support to address the opioid epidemic, but it would be helpful to have something similar from HDA to point to that we support as legislative solutions.

Agree with everything – importation has little chance of success with 60 vote threshold but good to keep members on their toes

Hi Rita. Agree with you, we should definitely have a deep dive on Comms strategy on opioid abuse issues and an update on the Reservoir work. I think John (or Patrick) mentioned at the February meeting the Reservoir engagement would take ~ 6 months so we should definitely be able to react to some work product by mid-September.

Other thoughts on the agenda:

Unless there's another run at ACA reform/repeal, I don't think we should spend much time on the failed/stalled efforts.

Maybe it's premature as it may never see the light of day, but with universal healthcare gaining more attention, I wonder if policy makers would seek a position/input from HDA on that?

If we're mentioning (potential) 340B reimbursement changes, I think we should also mention biosimilar reimbursement.

I also think we should mention MedPAC's agenda for the Commission's upcoming session and if HAD/members should be prepared for education on the role of distributors since MedPAC has gotten that wrong in the past.

What about importation? That might be embedded in the distributors role in drug pricing discussion, but I'd like to see that a bit more prominently featured on the agenda – assuming Sen Sanders will make several additional attempts to advance his bill as an amendment to legislation this year such as Medicare extenders, etc.

Hi all can you please look over this draft from Patrick and let me know if you have suggestions? I would suggest we add the Comms strategy on Opioid abuse since we are all trying to coordinate and would be good to have update on Reservoir?

Rita,

Attached is the draft agenda for the PPC meeting.

We are in the process of trying to secure speakers. We will also be preparing materials for the discussion topics.

Any additional topics/issues we should add for consideration by PPC?

Let me know.

Patrick
